

Goat Keepers

- A few days after the team photo was taken, I had a severe knee injury. Don Delude and I were honored to be chosen as Goat keepers for Bill XIV.
- We enjoyed giving Bill a bath before games, having his horn dug into an unmentionable part of our anatomy while on the sideline, getting waylaid by 50 or so University of Miami hooligans and having the goat stolen (It was all Don's fault), and receiving letters from the wives of Admirals complaining that we were being disrespectful to that poor animal. We did, however, also use Bill to entice the opposing team's female cheerleaders to give a cheer in front of the brigade where they were more than warmly received.